

TEST FOR CERTIFIED GUIDING LION

1. Can the Certified Guiding Lion choose the club he/she wants to guide, once they are certified?
 - No, the governor appoints the Certified Lion.
 - Yes, the Guiding Lion may choose the club.
 - Yes, if the club is in the Certified Guiding Lion's district.
2. Does the Certified Guiding Lion need to attend all the meetings of the club?
 - Yes, majority of club's general and board meetings for two years.
 - Yes, must attend meetings for the first six months.
 - No, must attend the board meetings only.
3. Should the officers of the club participate in zone and district leadership training?
 - Yes, it's highly recommended.
 - No, the Certified Guiding Lion provides all leadership training.
 - Yes, but only in the second year of the club.
4. Who determines the projects the club supports?
 - The club members determine what they feel is important for their community.
 - The Certified Guiding Lion MUST chose the appropriate project for the club.
 - The club must support LCIF before anything else.
5. Should the Certified Guiding Lion nominate mentors for the officers of the club?
 - Yes, so each officer is trained by an experienced officer with the most current information.
 - No, all training should be done by the Certified Guiding Lion.
 - Only after one year and if the officers are not performing their jobs well.
6. Should the Certified Guiding Lion discuss recruitment and retention during the training sessions?
 - No, it's not a problem for a new club.
 - Only after a year and if a club is losing membership.
 - Yes, it's important.
7. Is it necessary to explain how to host productive and meaningful club meetings?
 - No, they are adults, they should know.
 - Only if you see that the attendance is low.
 - Yes, it is key to continued participation.
8. How many club officer training sessions are recommended?
 - If they are good leaders, only one is needed.
 - Five sessions.
 - Six sessions, if a new club three before charter night and three after.
9. Does the Certified Guiding Lion have to send a report?
 - Yes, every three months.
 - Yes only at the end of the two year term.
 - Only if there are problems with the new club.
10. Does the Certified Guiding Lion have to send a final report?
 - Yes, this is a requirement for the award.
 - Only if the club is not working.
 - Only if they haven't sent any reports before.
11. Should the Certified Guiding Lion encourage club members and officers to visit other well managed clubs?
 - No it could confuse them and give them the wrong ideas.
 - Only after two years of membership.
 - Yes, it's a way of learning.
12. When is it recommended to conduct the "Club Officer Training"?
 - Within the 30 days of the charter application approval or assignment to existing club.
 - Two months after the charter night or assignment to existing club.
 - Only if needed.
13. Should the new clubs participate in district activities?
 - No, it should wait for at least two years.
 - Only in cases of International disasters.
 - Yes, as soon as possible.
14. Should a new club have a net growth during its first two years?
 - No, the new members must first get to know each other before recruiting new members.
 - Yes, it proves that the club is doing well.
 - Only if they lose members.
15. Should the Certified Guiding Lion determine where and when the new club holds its meetings?
 - Yes, of course the Certified Guiding Lion would make the best decision.
 - No, it must be the decision of the new members.
 - It must be held when it is convenient for the certified guiding Lion.
16. Does the zone chairperson belong to the "Club Officers Mentor Team"?
 - Yes, he/she does.
 - No, he/she has a different commitment.
 - Only if the governor appoints him/her.
17. How long should each session of the "Club Officers Training" last?
 - All day.
 - Minimum of three hours with a coffee break.
 - Each session should last about an hour.
18. Should the Certified Guiding Lion explain the fees and dues?
 - Only after the charter night.
 - Not at the beginning, they may lose interest.
 - Yes, it's an important issue.
19. Should the Certified Guiding Lion encourage the club to create a "Membership Recruiting Plan"?
 - During the second year of the club.
 - Yes, it's one of the club's main objectives.
 - Only if the new club is losing members.
20. Is increasing meeting attendance an important issue for a new club?
 - Yes, it's important to keep members involved.
 - In the beginning only the officers must attend.
 - Only after the charter night.