IMPORTANT: PLEASE COMPLETE THE COURSE BEFORE YOU ARE ASSIGNED A NEW CLUB OR WITHIN 30 DAYS OF BEING APPOINTED A GUIDING LION.

Congratulations on taking your first step to becoming a Certified Guiding Lion!

Introduction

This course is designed to prepare you to guide a new club through its first two years. After successfully completing this course, you will become a Certified Guiding Lion. New club officers will look to you for training and guidance to further build their clubs, and you will be a valuable resource for your district for years to come. If you are assigned by your district governor to assist a new club, you will need to work closely and in cooperation with your District Governor Team, the sponsoring club, and the new club.

The Certified Guiding Lion Program was developed to strengthen the support provided by the Guiding Lion and to:

1. Help the club determine its mission and purpose
2. Improve retention of new club members
3. Improve the assimilation of the new club membership into the Lions structure
4. Improve the relationship between the sponsoring club and the new club
5. Improve the support system of advisors over a two-year period of time
6. Improve the knowledge level of the Guiding Lion

Lions who work with new clubs, are in the position to strengthen an existing club, or serve on the District Governor Team, are encouraged to participate in the course.

Certified Guiding Lion Course Objectives

Even if you are an experienced Guiding Lion, you will benefit from this course because it provides the most comprehensive overview available of the roles and responsibilities of a Guiding Lion.

The Certified Guiding Lion Course will help you:

1. Understand your role as a Guiding Lion
2. Help you develop a plan to assist the new club
3. Provide tools to help the new officers manage their club
4. Locate the resources available to you and the club

Maintaining Certification: Successfully completing this course will certify you for three years. Certified Guiding Lions are required to retake the course every three years to maintain certification.

Program Design

This course is offered two ways: As a correspondence style course that allows you to learn at your own pace, or in a classroom, which will allow you to exchange ideas with other participants. In all cases, you will be asked to complete the exercises on your own.

If you are completing the course on your own, allow yourself adequate time to review the material and resources available as noted in the guide. The course will usually take approximately six to eight hours to complete. Seek additional information and guidance from the District Governor Team and other knowledgeable Lions so you have a complete understanding of the support that is available. This provides an opportunity for these key leaders to provide additional information and help you to master areas that you might need to develop further. Once your district governor or Global Membership Team (GMT) Coordinator has reviewed your workbook and signed the completion form, send the form to Lions Clubs International so that a Certified Guiding Lion certificate can be sent to you.

If you are participating in a classroom delivered course, complete this workbook prior to attending the course. Allow yourself a minimum of six hours to complete the guide and, if possible, more time so you are well acquainted with the material. This will allow you to contribute more during classroom interaction and gain a more thorough understanding of the position. The time you put into preparing for the role of Guiding Lion will make you a more confident and effective leader.

Course Organization:

Section I. Skills of a Successful Guiding Lion

This section focuses on the leadership skills needed to be an effective Guiding Lion and helps you identify areas that you can develop further to make you a more effective leader.

Section II. Get off to a Good Start – Become an Information Expert

This section helps you prepare for serving as a Guiding Lion by leading you through the current materials and training available from LCI.

This section focuses on:

1. Club Officer Orientation – An on-line course designed for club officers
2. LCI Club Resource Center – Materials and programs designed to strengthen the new club
3. MyLCI - How to submit reports and access information
4. Publications – Key publications new clubs will need to effectively manage their club

Section III. Develop a Club Officer Mentor Team

This section helps you identify Lions who can assist the new club as a Club Officer Mentor and provides an outline for the mentor to follow to provide job specific training.

Section IV. Design Club Officer Training

This section outlines a general plan for club officer training that can be adapted for your use in your geographical area. The program outline includes an introduction to LCI and then moves on to identifying and implementing service projects and how to conduct meaningful meetings.

Section V: Guiding Lion Resources

This section includes a description of the reports available to the Guiding Lion to help track the development of the club.

Receiving the Presidential Certified Guiding Lion Award

To receive the Presidential Certified Guiding Lion Award, you must be assigned to a new club by your district governor and meet the requirements listed below during your two-year term. The term begins on the new club's charter approval date.

The criteria for receiving the award are as follows:

1. The Guiding Lion successfully completed the revised Certified Guiding Lion Course.
2. Lions Clubs International has received Quarterly Reports from the Certified Guiding Lion
See Quarterly Report Form on page 24 of this guide.
3. The new club officers confirmed that the Certified Guiding Lion supported the clubs development.
4. The Certified Guiding Lion attended most of the new club's general and board meetings.
5. There has been no change in new club officers without an acceptable cause or proper elections.
6. The club had a net membership growth over the two year period.
7. The new club has reported new service and fundraising projects.
8. The new club has participated in district activities (including zone meetings).
9. The new club officers and/or members have visited other club meetings.
10. The club is in good standing with Lions Clubs International.
11. The club routinely submits membership, activity and club officer reports in a timely manner.

To acknowledge that the requirements have been achieved, complete the Guiding Lion Final Report and submit the form to the District and Club Administration Division at Lions Clubs International.

Section I. Skills of a Successful Guiding Lion

Administrator. Motivator. Team Builder. Communicator. Listener. A successful Guiding Lion serves many roles. Some of these skills may come naturally to you; some of them you may need to fully develop. Building these skills will not only help you with your responsibilities, but they will also help you personally and professionally.

Empowerment is the key to success! Each club was founded by Lions who had a dream and wanted to make a difference. As a Guiding Lion you have the opportunity to help show them how they can reach their dreams as a member of a Lions club. Don't try to change their dreams, support them. Too often, overzealous leaders encourage new clubs to support projects that are of little or no interest to the members of the new club. Be sure to encourage clubs to follow their dreams and encourage other Lion leaders to support the club's decision. Do not allow area leaders to pressure the new club into supporting projects that divert funds and energy away from their goals.

Motivator: Attitude is infectious. Motivate new members by being positive. Inspire them even further by helping them realize the responsibilities, benefits and satisfaction that come from Lions membership.

Trainer: A big part of your job will be to show new Lion leaders how to effectively manage their club and to lead the club in a positive direction. Helping both club officers and charter members learn about our association is a very important responsibility. Take some time before beginning the training to reacquaint yourself with the fundamentals of the International association, your multiple district, district, and your local club so you can incorporate the information into your new club officer training.

Communicator: Good communication skills will improve your effectiveness. Take the time to listen to what others are saying. Learn how to moderate discussions and help people solve disputes. Encourage two-way communication between members in a positive and proactive manner.

Observer: While you are trying to nurture the club, recognize that each member will have different skills, abilities and experience. Use individual strengths to the club's advantage.

Goal Setter: Help the group work together to define and set measurable goals and action plans to reach the defined goals. Be sure that the goals that are set are meaningful to the club and its members.

Team Builder: Help the new club learn how to function as a group; i.e., to respect the opinions of individuals while working together to decide what is best for the club as a whole. This skill will be critical for the club as it moves forward.

Administrator: Being organized will help you with the task of filing reports and assisting the new club, and it will help build your own confidence. As a role model, do your part to portray Lion leaders as organized, knowledgeable and professional.

Advisor: Share your insights, knowledge and experience with new club leaders, while still allowing them to make decisions on their own.

Liaison: Help keep the lines of communication open between the new club and the sponsoring club.

Enthusiastic Lion: New members will look to you as an experienced Lion. Share your knowledge of Lions with them, as well as your dedication and enthusiasm.

Skilled Presenter: If it has been a while since you last provided training, consider spending some time to refresh your presentation and training skills. There are many excellent reference materials online in The Lion Learning Center to help you refine your presentation and group process skills, along with goal setting, action plan development and evaluation skills.

Listener: As Guiding Lion, sometimes it is good to simply listen and be a sounding board for the new club officer's thoughts and ideas and serve as an advisor or mentor.

Computer Skills: One Guiding Lion will be asked to be the reporting Lion, which will require the ability of submitting and receiving electronic reports. There will also be the need to send and accept emails and download publications. It will be vitally important that at least one Guiding Lion have access to and be able to effectively utilize the LCI website.

Most Important Skill of a Guiding Lion!... COMMITMENT!

When asked, the number one attribute was the ability of the Guiding Lion to attend meetings and be available when needed. As Guiding Lion, expect to attend nearly all the club's meetings for the first six months and as frequently as possible over the first two years.

The Measure of Success

The ultimate goal for the Guiding Lion is to make the club independent and self-reliant.
The Guiding Lion is only successful when he or she is no longer needed by the new club.

EXERCISE #1 – Self Assessment of Guiding Lion Skills

Take a moment to summarize the skills that you believe are important to the success of a Guiding Lion.

Which characteristics do you feel you already possess and which ones do you feel you would like to develop further?

How can you improve these skills?

Section 2: Get Off to a Good Start – Become an Information Expert!

Even seasoned and knowledgeable Lions find it challenging to stay current with the latest policies, support materials and membership initiatives. The guide below will help you prepare for training the new club officers.

Leadership Resource Center

The Leadership Resource Center of the LCI Web site offers a tremendous amount of information for new and established club officers. Encourage the new club officers to become familiar with the site.

Begin your preparation by completing the following on-line courses:

Club Officer Orientation – This can be found in the Leadership Resource Center under training materials, or simply by typing “Club Officers Orientation” into the search box. The site features on-line courses specific for the Club President, Club Secretary and the Club Treasurer and links to key documents for each specific position. Allow yourself plenty of time to review the course and acquaint yourself with the materials. Each course may take approximately one hour.

Club President Course – The club president course provides an overview of the roles and responsibilities of the club president, the resources that are available, guidance on election procedures, forming committees and planning.

Club Secretary Course – The course reviews the specific responsibilities of the club secretary and provides guidance for submitting reports, the importance of communication and the resources that are available to train the club secretary.

Club Treasurer Course – This course provides an overview of the role of the club treasurer, record keeping, dues and financial obligations.

Be sure to check out these and other courses found in the Leadership Resource Center.

EXERCISE #2 – Identify key concepts that should be shared as part of the club officer training

After reviewing the courses, determine at least three items or concepts that you believe would be the most valuable to the new club officers.

What is the most important information to share with the club president?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

What is the most important information to share with the club secretary?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

What is the most important information to share with the club treasurer?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

In addition to the Club Officer Training, note other on-line courses that might be helpful.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Club Resource Center:

Next, review the materials that are available in the Member Center of the website entitled “Managing Your Club”

This section includes the following:

- Access to the Club Resource Center to download frequently used forms, publications and information.
- PR Tools to help communicate the club’s activities
- Finance information you need to manage club funds.
- Strategies you can use to strengthen membership.
- A free Web site for your Lions club with the E-Clubhouse

Become familiar with the sections on this site and be sure to include the information in your club officer training so they are able to refer to this valuable information when needed,

EXERCISE #3: Determine the value of the Club Resource Center

What were the top three items that you feel are useful to promote excellence in club management?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

MyLCI

While compiling and submitting reports is often not at the top of the club officer list, reports are necessary to manage the club properly and measure the club’s health.

The MyLCI Site – This is the site where the club secretary enters in new and dropped members, files activity reports and has the ability to print rosters. There are also guides to help club officers navigate the reports. This site is critical to good club management.

If reporting is not one of your strengths, remember to pair the new club secretary with an exceptional existing club secretary so they have the support of a knowledgeable and experienced Lion.

EXERCISE #4 – MyLCI

Log onto the site and find the instruction videos on the right side. Be sure to watch:

- * Logon and Registration - instructions for registering & obtaining a password
- * Introduction of MyLCI - overall view of program
- * Navigating the MyLCI site - the various reports and information available from the site

Key Publications

Below you will find a list of key publications that you will refer to when developing your club officer training program. Be sure you have the most recent version of the following publications. Each can be found on-line by typing the name or the code into the search box.

- Standard Form Lions Club Constitution and Bylaws (LA-2)
- Club Officer's Manual (LA-15)
- Orientation Guide (ME-13)
- Charter Night Planning Guide (TK-26)
- Club Membership Chairperson's Manual (ME-44)
- Making It Happen, Guide to Club Project Development (TK-10)
- Community Needs Assessment (MK-9)

Today's Volunteer

Today's volunteer is focused on the service that the club will provide and the personal satisfaction and enjoyment attained through the service experience. When working with new club officers, help them to minimize time spent on administrative tasks. Always put the club's goals first and then show the officers efficient ways to handle the required paperwork.

Section 3: Develop a Club Officer Mentor Team

Expand the support for the new club by establishing a Club Officer Mentor Team to ensure the new club has the support and guidance needed to be successful.

Team members:

Two Certified Guiding Lions – This will allow these two key leaders the ability to share the workload and expand the support. One Guiding Lion should try to attend each meeting and club event and be available for questions as needed.

The District Governor Team – While it may be too early for the new club to support district initiatives, (especially if the district projects do not further support club's humanitarian mission...remember, the club members joined the club with their own projects in mind) the new club officers should be involved in the training and support provided by the district as soon as possible.

The Zone Chairperson – It is important that the new club be included in the training and events hosted by the zone.

Club Officer Mentors – As a Guiding Lion, you may or may not be familiar with the administrative requirements of the new club. Matching the club officers for the new club with knowledgeable and experienced club officers from existing clubs will provide very practical support. The mentor should be currently serving in the position and aware of the latest tools and information.

Club Officer Mentor Training Checklists – Provide each Club Officer Mentor with a “Mentor Checklist” which is included for each officer position. You will find the checklists on pages 30 to 33.

EXERCISE #5 Develop your Club Officer Mentor Team

Identify the individuals who are qualified to serve in the following roles:

DISTRICT GOVERNOR TEAM

District Governor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

First Vice District Governor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Second Vice District Governor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Zone Chairperson

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

New Club Officer Mentors

Club President Mentor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Club Secretary Mentor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Club Treasurer Mentor

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Club Membership Chairperson

Name: _____

Main responsibility: _____

Section 4: Design Club Officer Training

The following is an outline to help organize and facilitate club officer training. Resources for each training session are also included. Draw from your experiences and adapt the materials to meet local needs and customs. Consider ways to make the orientation as meaningful and relevant as possible. The training may take place over a few sessions. Keep the information manageable – present too much at one time and much of it will be forgotten. One helpful approach is to have written support materials available and only cover verbally those important items you want to highlight. Be prepared to help the new members find the information they will need. Allow time for questions and answers during each training session and include your Club Officer Mentor Team. Ideally these sessions should take place weekly so the training can be completed within 30 days of the charter application approval.

Note: There is a Club Officer Training Checklist on page 26 to assist you with your sessions.

Training Session One: Introduction to Lions Clubs International, Club Responsibilities, the Charter Night Ceremony and the Club Officer Mentor Team

(This should take place within a week of club formation)

Overview: During this training session, club officers will learn the basics about the International Association, as well as the structure of the club, district and multiple district. The officers should also meet their Club Officer Mentor team and review administrative details and responsibilities of the club. This section includes a great deal of information that the officers will need to access on a regular basis. Make sure that they know where to find the information, either printed or on the web site, when they need it.

During this session you should also highlight how a Charter Night can build enthusiasm for the new club. Stress the value of the support provided by the sponsoring club and others who might help plan the celebration activities.

References: Orientation Guide (ME-13), Standard Form Lions Club Constitution and Bylaws (LA-2), Club Officer Manual (LA-15), and the Charter Night Planning Guide (TK-26).

Goal: At the end of this session, club officers will have an overview of club operation, club responsibilities, charter night activities and have met their support team.

Sequence:

Introduction to Lions Clubs International Orientation Guide (12 minutes maximum)

1. History of Lions Clubs International and Structure of the Club, Zone, Region, District, Multiple District and Constitutional Area: Begin with the club as the basic unit and be sure to explain that each level has different officers, stressing the support they provide. (3 minutes)
2. Zone Chairperson Support: The training and support offered at the zone level (1 minute)

3. District Governor Team Support: Briefly review each position and the support they can offer the new club. (2 minutes)
4. Support offered from LCI: Mention the training that is available, the e-clubhouse and other programs that might be helpful to the new club and its officers. (3 minutes)
5. International Service Projects: Presented by the district governor or another knowledgeable Lion. (2 minutes)
6. Reaffirm that each club is autonomous and that the club determines the programs and events that the club will support. (1 minute)

Understanding Club Responsibilities – Club Constitution and By-Laws (23 minutes)

Explain that the Standard Form Lions Club Constitution and By-laws contains the primary governing guidelines for the club. For each item, briefly review the important points covered in the constitution.

1. Mission Statement, Slogan, Motto, Purpose, Objects and Ethics: These are the fundamental guiding ideals of the association, and it is important that all officers are familiar with them. (2 minutes)
2. Type of Memberships: Briefly review each type. (3 minutes)
 - Active – a member entitled to all the rights and privileges of membership.
 - Associate – A member who holds his or her primary membership in another club.
 - Affiliate – A member who is not able to fully participate as an active member, but desires to support the club and the community services that it provides.
 - Members-At-Large – A member who has moved from the community or because of health or other reasons is unable to attend regular meetings but desires to maintain membership in the club.
 - Honorary – An individual, not a member of the club, who has performed outstanding service in the community and whom the club would like to confer this special distinction.
 - Privileged – A Lion who has been a member for 15 or more years, who, because of illness or another reason, must relinquish his or her active status.
 - Life – A member, who has maintained active membership for 20 years (and in some cases less), has rendered outstanding service to the community and has applied for Life Member Status.

Please check a current issue of the Standard Form Club Constitution and By-laws for further information about these member types.

3. Fees and Dues: Explain the dues structure and how the dues amount is established. (2 minutes)
4. Officer Responsibility: Briefly review each officer's roles and responsibilities and note that their officer mentor will provide personal and detailed information about the position. This will be further outlined during the next training session. (5 minutes)
5. Board of Directors: Explain the function, roles and responsibilities of a club's board of directors. This will be further outlined during the next training session. (2 minutes)
6. Managing Funds: Explain the difference between "Administrative" and "Public (activity)" funds. (2 minutes)

7. Elections: Indicate when and how elections should take place. (2 minutes)
8. Meetings: Explain the difference between general and board meetings and customarily what is discussed, or not discussed, at each. Mention that they will have the opportunity to customize their meeting to design a meeting that fits their membership at a later session. (2 minutes)
9. Convention and Convention Delegates: Describe the events at the district convention and encourage all the club members to attend. Discuss how the club can get involved in convention activities and review the process for determining how many delegates a club is entitled to send to a district, multiple district and international convention. (3 minutes)

Today's Volunteer

Today's volunteer is more interested in what an organization can accomplish and less concerned with titles and protocol. Titles are only important when it is noted how the leader can support the club.

Charter Night – Charter Night Planning Guide (15 minutes)

Briefly review the Charter Night Planning Guide, paying particular attention to timelines and responsibilities. Keep in mind that this event may be a challenge for the new club. Offer assistance by encouraging the sponsoring club or district to host the Charter Night.

Club Officer Mentor Team (10 minutes)

Introduce the new club officers to the Club Officer Mentor team. Provide the name and contact number along with each person's expertise. Ask the New Club Officer Mentors to schedule a personal meeting with their designated club officer. Give each position and their respective mentor a checklist to cover for their position. Checklists can be found on page 30 to 33.

Exercise #6: Key objectives of Training Session One

Training Session One is an overview of LCI, why is that important?

What do you consider the three most important objectives of the first training session?

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

Training Session Two: Club Officer Responsibilities and Initiating Meaningful Projects.

Overview: This session covers ways in which the new club can be managed effectively and how to initiate meaningful projects. Stress the concepts of teamwork and communication to the new officers.

References: Club Officer Manual (LA-15), Making It Happen (TK-10)

Goal: At the end of this session, club officers will understand their role, how to access information and the tools they need to fulfill their role, and how to initiate their first service project.

Sequence:

Club Officer Responsibilities – Club Officer Manual, Section II (20 minutes)

The Club Officer Manual succinctly highlights the important role of each club officer. Briefly review each section, noting any local adaptations when appropriate. By this time the new club officers should have met with their mentor and gone over the checklist. Review the club officer checklist to monitor their level of understanding and ease any concerns. If concerns arise, ask the mentor to assist or, if needed, assign a new mentor.

Planning Service Activities – Making It Happen (30 minutes)

Every club needs to have a mission. Determining how best to allocate a club's volunteer and financial resources is a very important step for any new club. When clubs conduct service projects that are worthwhile and meaningful, the community will respond with its support, and the members will value their involvement.

During this session, walk the club officers through the process of identifying potential new projects by using the "Making it Happen, Guide to Club Project Development" (TK-10). The Guide to Club Project Development walks a club through the evaluation process, and includes helpful worksheets to bring a project from idea to reality. If this exercise has not already been completed, encourage the club officers to conduct the exercise at the next meeting. If the club already has a project, consider using the tool after their initial project is completed. This exercise should not be rushed and could take 20 to 30 minutes.

The steps for "Making it Happen" are as follows:

1. Step One: Make a List of Possible Programs: This step gives club members the opportunity to voice what they like about their community and brainstorm ideas for addressing community needs. Stress the importance of member input for this step.
2. Step Two: Appoint Task Forces: Interested club members have the opportunity to form a team to actively pursue their ideas. Explain to club officers the importance of involving interested and motivated members in order to keep their enthusiasm high.
3. Step Three: Conduct Research: During this important step, task force members research the feasibility of their ideas. Encourage club officers to urge task force members to keep an open mind and not become discouraged during this step. If an idea is not feasible, perhaps there is another opportunity yet to be discovered.

- 4. Step Four: Write a Plan: At this point, the idea truly begins to take shape. Explain that details are important during this stage.
- 5. Step Five: Implement the Plan: All the club members' hard work becomes reality! Stress that enthusiasm and recognition of achievement are keys to keeping momentum and motivation high.

Always remember that the club members should always decide the programs that the club supports. Avoid promoting local or district programs that might take time and resources away from something that is truly meaningful to the members for at least the first 12 months.

Exercise #7: Key Objectives of Training Session Two

Training Session Two is more focused on the roles and responsibilities of the club.

What do you consider the three most important objectives of the second session?

Training Session Three: The Importance of Recruitment and Retention

Overview: This section underscores the importance of continued club growth and provides an opportunity to check the progress made by the Club Officer Mentor Team.

References: Club Membership Chairperson's Manual (ME-44),

Goal: To initiate an ongoing membership recruiting plan and confirm club officer development

Sequence:

The Importance of Recruitment and Retention – Club Membership Chairperson's Manual (45 minutes)

One of the most valuable lessons to teach the new club immediately is the importance of membership recruitment and retention. Effective recruitment and retention efforts need to begin immediately. Lay a good foundation by setting a positive tone during the organizational meeting. Continue by setting proper expectations of club membership through a relevant orientation. Reinforce each member's value, and strengthen club retention, by involving the member in an activity that is meaningful to him or her. Advise the club that the best way to combat membership drops is to run an efficient, productive club, and to involve and respect each member.

Review the Club Membership Chairperson's Manual and discuss the following topics:

1. Recruiting New Members: Discuss successful ideas for finding new members.
2. Sponsor's Responsibilities: Review the importance of a committed sponsor both in the recruiting of new members and in retaining each new member.
3. Induction Ceremony: Discuss the importance of properly inducting new members.
4. New Member Orientation: Explain how important a thorough orientation is to retaining members. Stress that the orientation should be meaningful and meet the needs of the members. It should focus on the benefits and support that the club can provide them as they strive to successfully conduct humanitarian and/or community projects.
5. Member Satisfaction Guide: Improve retention by keeping members satisfied and involved. This guide provides helpful tips to keep members happy and coming back.
6. How Are Your Ratings? Discuss the value in asking your members' opinions regarding your club.
7. Membership Awards: Review current information regarding awards available from the club, district, multiple district, and Lions Clubs International. Information regarding Key Awards and the Year Round Growth Program are available from Lions Clubs International.
8. Involvement: Stress the importance of getting members involved immediately and keeping them motivated.

Additional information supporting membership recruitment and retention is available in the Membership section of the Lions Clubs International Web site at www.lionsclubs.org or by contacting the Membership Programs and New Clubs Marketing Department or the Membership Operations Department at Lions Clubs International Headquarters.

Exercise #8: Creating a Membership Plan:

Describe successful ideas for recruiting new members that could be shared with new club officers.

Follow-up Development (15 minutes)

Take a moment to make sure that the officers know their responsibilities and that the club officer mentors are assisting the new club officers effectively. Leave time for any open issue or concern and to announce any news from the district that might be relevant to the officers.

Training Session Four: Hosting Productive and Meaningful Meetings

This training focuses on hosting positive and productive meetings and techniques for boosting meeting attendance. This training should take place within 30 days of the charter approval date so the strategies mentioned can be applied as soon as possible.

References: Your Club, Your Way (PRC3), Meeting Management Course (Online – Lions Learning Center)

Goal: To encourage positive and meaningful meetings that are well attended

Meaningful and productive meetings are critical for new club success. This is the time for the members to gather and discuss project ideas as well as enjoy fellowship. But sometimes, for new clubs and new club officers, hosting an effective meeting is a challenge.

Meetings should begin to take place regularly after the application has been submitted. If meetings have taken place prior to this training session, discuss their success and perhaps areas of improvement. If meetings have not yet taken place, take this opportunity to help the officers plan a well attended and meaningful meeting.

In either case, always be positive and encouraging. If needed, review the following ideas that apply:

Your Club, Your Way (10-15 minutes or more if needed)

Clubs sometimes feel pressured into holding traditional meetings, but meeting format is truly optional. Your Club, Your Way, helps clubs determine the format that is best for the members. Clubs can choose from various options such as having or not having meals, making board decisions on-line and getting together for service work instead of a formal meeting. Help them customize the meeting to fit their lifestyle.

How to Improve Overall Meetings

For long-term involvement and participation, the club meeting needs to be positive and productive.

See the following resources for more information concerning effective and positive meetings. These resources can be used to help the club build a strong foundation at the beginning, and also help the club later to continue to involve and attract members.

Meeting Management – This on-line course, located under Leadership Development in the Lions Learning Center, outlines the steps to effective meetings. The course follows Lion David on a series of club visits and presents three phases of good meeting management, effective meeting preparation procedures, and meeting facilitation. The course also provides tips on how to manage group behavior and how to follow-up between meetings. The participant will become familiar with practical worksheets and checklists to facilitate effective meeting management for their club.

Meeting Program Ideas – This list (page 29) will help the club officers identify new and relevant programs that fit their needs. This piece includes several ideas that can be used as is or adapted to meet the needs of the club members.

Exercise 9: Productive and Meaningful Meetings

What elements are key to a positive and productive meeting?

What can be done to increase attendance?

Ongoing Development

Following the initial training, the club officers should be encouraged to attend region or zone meetings and other district events for continued training and should stay in contact with their New Club Mentor for further guidance.

The Club Excellence Process

The Club Excellence Process is an exceptional program that focuses on the same goals as the training conducted by the Guiding Lion, but at a more advanced level. Once the club officers understand basic club management, invite them to participate in the course to continue their development.

Periodically meet with the new officers to continue to focus on the six elements of club success.

Six Elements of a Successful Club

- 1. The club members have conducted service projects that are meaningful to them.
- 2. The club has achieved a net growth in membership and involves the new members in meaningful activities quickly.
- 3. The club communicates effectively with the members and the public.
- 4. Meetings are held regularly and are meaningful and positive.
- 5. Club officers participate in zone and district leadership training.
- 6. The club is in good standing and reports regularly.

Persistence is a Key to Success

Serving as a Guiding Lion is not always an easy task. You may be giving several hours a week during your tenure, and you may encounter resistance and frustration. However, you will find that your duties as a Guiding Lion will give you an immense feeling of personal satisfaction that should help motivate you to continue through any challenges.

Guiding Lion Resources:

Reports

Club Health Assessment

As Guiding Lion you will receive a monthly club health assessment report electronically each month. This report will provide the membership growth or loss, reporting history, note if the club is past due and report any donations made to LCIF. You must be registered as the Guiding Lion for the club and have a recorded email address to receive the report,

Quarterly Report

It is important that your district governor and LCI is informed of the progress of the new club and any challenges that you might face along the way. The Quarterly Report found on page 24 provides valuable information to ensure continued development. Regular reporting is a requirement for the Presidential Certified Guiding Lion Award.

Final Report

At the close of your two years, submit the new club's final report. This report, as well as other requirements noted on page 25, is required for the Presidential Certified Guiding Lion Award.

Guiding Lion Hotline

As Guiding Lion, you are also encouraged to contact the Guiding Lion Hotline for more information and support directly from the District and Club Administration Division.

Transition to Independence

Over the next two years, you will help the new club gain independence. Following is a timeline to set goals and track achievements.

YEAR ONE:

1st Quarter:

First 30 days:

- Help organize new club
- Help club president conduct “Making it Happen” (TK-10) exercise to facilitate project planning
- Provide officer training over a number of sessions
- Attend meetings and coach when needed – both general and board meetings during the next two years
- File the first membership report

Second 30 days

- Help plan Charter Night
- Initiate a membership campaign
- Help club officers assign committees. Take special care to involve all members.
- Take the first steps to conduct service project

Third 30 days

- Officers should be attending zone meetings
- Host Charter Night

2nd – 3rd Quarters:

- Make sure Membership Reports are sent on time and completed properly
- Check progress on service project
- Encourage club officers to attend meetings run by quality clubs
- Institute a membership campaign
- Continue to meet with club officers during general and board meetings to discuss challenges and opportunities
- Encourage the new club to conduct a club retreat (retreat information available on-line)
- Make sure the officers are involved in officer training on the district or multiple district level. Encourage them to participate in the Club Excellence Process.
- Encourage visitations to other Lions clubs

4th Quarter:

Conduct a year-end review (perhaps during a Club Retreat) and help the club officers develop an annual plan, which should include:

- Analyze progress toward goals and looking for ways to achieve their mission
- Research retention challenges – institute a system to research the needs of the members to ensure their needs are being met, meetings are being run properly, and there is continuous improvement of the membership experience
- Determine other short-term goals (within the next few months)
- Set long-term goals (ongoing over the next 3-5 years)

YEAR TWO:

1st Quarter:

The new officers should be properly installed and begin their year with the following plans outlined in detail:

Project Plan – Make a three-year plan for service projects, include action steps, goals and objectives. This plan should include a timeline and resource allocation that includes both funding and manpower. The publication “Making it Happen” (TK-10) is an excellent resource for developing this plan.

Recruiting Plan – Outline plans for recruiting new members and promoting the club. This plan should include the formation of a membership committee.

Leadership Development Plan – Create a plan that outlines the development and support of club officers and leaders. Officers and members may do a self-assessment to see if they have a particular goal, personal or professional, that they would like to attain. Consider focusing the plan on leadership skills.

Member Satisfaction – Develop a plan that includes a system to research the needs of the members to ensure member needs are being met, meetings are being run properly and there is a continuous improvement of the membership experience.

- Provide ongoing club support and coaching when needed
- Continue inviting club officers (and incoming club officers) to meetings run by quality clubs
- Continue participation in district activities
- Revise and expand the annual plan

2nd, 3rd & 4th Quarters:

- Track ongoing goals
- Set new goals
- Conduct Club Retreat
- Encourage club visitations

Ideas to Increase Meeting Attendance

- ✓ Make sure meeting dates, time and location are convenient to the members.
- ✓ Make sure the meeting place is comfortable and meets the needs of your members.
- ✓ Use multiple communication methods to encourage attendance. This would include email, letters and phone calls. Communications should be upbeat and include a positive description of the meeting program and underscore the importance of their involvement in the club’s activities.
- ✓ Invite members and potential members and encourage them to bring friends. Even if they miss a meeting, continue to keep them on your invitation list. Keep them informed of the developments and the progress made on service projects.
- ✓ Provide a detailed status report of each club project and encourage members to get involved.
- ✓ Feature an interesting program or presentation at each meeting.

Club Meeting Program Ideas

Most general meetings feature a program for the benefit of their members. Club programs can inform or entertain. They can enrich your members personally and professionally. And, while political and religious discussions should be avoided, the general meeting is a perfect opportunity for members and guests to learn about the community and issues that might relate to the interests of the club members.

There are many places to find good programs, they include:

Local Community Leaders – such as a mayor, member of government, police or fire chief, school superintendent, etc. Not only will your club benefit from their programs, but you will have the opportunity to introduce these influential people to your club.

Local Business People, such as representatives from your members’ companies, the chamber of commerce, or convention and visitor’s bureau – programs from these diverse groups can offer variety.

Recipients of Club Service – Hearing from those who have benefited from club efforts is a great way to motivate members to continue their dedication to serving those in need.

Cultural Organizations, such as museums, theaters and orchestras – interesting and informative programs from these organizations are a good way to add variety.

Organizations that help the Disabled – Such as Special Olympics, local blindness assistance organizations, agencies for the disabled, groups that provide assistance to the elderly and others. While these groups will usually request funding from the club, they may also provide opportunity for hands-on involvement.

District Committee Chairmen – Learn about the status of your district’s important projects to encourage club support.

Programs in a Pinch – Have a few programs ready that can be put on quickly and easily in the event of a last minute cancellation. Some ideas for quick programs include: presenting the International Program video and discussing how your club is contributing to the association’s goals for the year, holding a membership recruitment “summit” and brainstorming creative ways your club can recruit new members, or having your public relations chairman report on the status of publicity efforts and your club’s perception in the community. You can also ask members if they have any “non-Lion” programs one of them would be willing to present at the last minute if requested. Keep a list of these “emergency” programs on hand and you’ll be prepared to act quickly.

Networking Opportunities—If your club includes business people, make sure they have the opportunity to network. Encourage them to discuss their business, exchange business cards and include their profession in the club directory.

Family Friendly Clubs – Consider making your club family friendly or hosting a family night! Additional resources and ideas can be found at www.lionsclubs.org and download the “Family Friendly Lions Club Concept How To Guide” (MPFG1).
