

Two reasons I find time to Prevent Diabetes ...my future and theirs.

My family means the world to me. That's why I'm making time to take care of my health.

I found out that having a family history of type 2 diabetes puts you at risk for the disease. But the good news is that you can prevent it. Take these small steps: lose a small amount of weight by making healthy food choices and getting 30 minutes of physical activity 5 days a week.

Talk to your health care professional about your risk for type 2 diabetes.
